

You enter in a zip code and it gabs the current weather and forecast for the next five of the zipcode put in. You can toggle for using Celsius and Fahrenheit. Typing a new zip code in will destroy the current fragments and add new fragments with the data for the new zip code. It uses the openweather api. You do have to supply your own api key into the constants file.

